

Gary J. Brouillette

Senior Counsel

An experienced Kansas City attorney, Gary strives to establish a close relationship with clients and maintain that relationship as their business moves forward. Gary feels the same urgency that clients do about solving legal matters, so responsiveness is of the utmost importance to him.

Gary never stops learning, and that means better service for you.

Gary believes that he can learn something new from every client he works with. His experiences are vast. After clerking for a United States District Judge in Nebraska, he served for more than three years as a Judge Advocate in the USAF. He came to Kansas City and began practice with a large law firm. After serving as General Counsel for Missouri Public Service Company he began private practice again in a smaller firm before coming to Seigfreid Bingham in 1998. Gary has worked with a variety of individuals and businesses.

These varied experiences, backgrounds, and perspectives enhance Gary's practice and understanding of law. As a result, his experience allows him to provide exceptional service for your business.

Your business' future, his top priority.

Gary's practice involves representing many different business entities, especially closely held businesses. His practice covers a wide scope of abilities including helping businesses with general business law, commercial real estate, construction, title work, working with owners often on estate planning, probate administration, and business succession planning.

Gary seeks to use his knowledge and experience to help your business. His goal is the same as yours: to keep your business moving in the right direction so you can achieve your personal and professional objectives.

Gary is also actively involved in his church community and enjoys spending time with his extended family, golfing, and hiking.
